Risk Disclosure

No information presented constitutes a recommendation by any affiliate of the Sharenet Group to buy, sell or hold any security, financial product or instrument or to engage in any specific investment strategy. Any opinions, news, research, analyses, prices, or other information contained on this website is provided as general market commentary, and does not constitute investment advice.

There is a risk associated with any type of investment. The value of the investments and income may rise as well as fall, and there is always a risk that the Client may suffer financial losses. The Client does not have a claim against Sharenet in the event of the realisation of this risk unless it can be proved that the losses were due to negligence, fraud, misconduct or dishonesty by the Sharenet or its staff.

Risk can be managed by creating a well-diversified portfolio. Investors can reduce their risk by doing their homework and always knowing exactly what they're investing in. Trading securities such as shares can be rewarding but investors should always be aware of the risks involved when trading investment products. Many variables can affect your wealth. Diversification within a market and/or throughout a number of geographical areas also helps to lower exposure to economic and political factors. The Client should, however, bear in mind that investing overseas may involve other risks, such as currency fluctuations; different accounting standards to those recognised in South Africa and, often, limited information.

General disclosure in respect of Collective Investments

Collective investments are generally medium to long term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up, and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the company/ scheme. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. Some funds forward price while other funds price historically. Consult the company/scheme for details. A fund of fund collective investment only invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges.
